

ABOUT THE FESTIVAL

Sukkot (meaning “booths” in Hebrew) is a weeklong Jewish harvest festival—a time of giving thanks for the gifts of nature and the safety and comfort of home. During the holiday, Jews around the world invite family and friends into their sukkot to eat, gather, and celebrate the bounty of the season.

Today, we invite you to join our Skirball family and share in the celebration of the harvest season. Shop at the market around campus, and take home delicious treats and home goods. Sing and dance along with local bands, and participate in communal art activities that honor nature’s bounty.

Hear more about the holiday in a special message from the Skirball Founding President and CEO Uri D. Herscher on stage at 11:55 a.m.
